

“THE SIXTEEN-SCOOP ICE CREAM CONE”

Place a cone-shaped felt piece at the bottom of the felt board. Add different colored felt “scoops” above the cone each time a different flavor is mentioned in the story until there is a towering “Sixteen-Scoop Ice Cream Cone.”

I love ice cream. One day I went to an ice cream store that advertised sixteen different flavors.

I couldn’t make up my mind. So I ordered one of each.

On a sugar cone.

I had a scoop of Raspberry Road and a scoop of Rocky Ripple and a scoop of Blueberry Bliss and a scoop of Magical Mint and a scoop of Strawberry Surprise and a scoop of Grape Jubilee and a scoop of Rainbow Ice and a scoop of Chocolate Chunky Chip and a scoop of Cardinal Cherry Royale and a scoop of Luscious Lime Sherbet and a scoop of Black Licorice Delight and a scoop of Okey-Dokey Mocha and a scoop of Choco-Cherry Caramel Twist and a scoop of Marshmallow Banana Butterscotch Blonde Blitz and a scoop of Peanut Butter Bubblegum Crème Supreme.

(please turn the page)

“THE SIXTEEN-SCOOP ICE CREAM CONE” (CONTINUED)

The logo for Rob Teid, featuring the name in a stylized font. 'ROB' is in blue and 'TEID' is in a darker blue. The text is positioned within a red L-shaped graphic element.

The person behind the counter handed me my ice cream cone.

It had one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten, eleven, twelve, thirteen, fourteen, fifteen scoops.

“Fifteen scoops?” I said. “I thought you advertised sixteen flavors!”

“We do,” said the person behind the counter. “But the sixteenth flavor is vanilla. We keep it in the back because nobody ever orders vanilla.”

“Vanilla!” I screamed. “You have vanilla?” It’s my favorite! Take back all of these other flavors and give me vanilla!”

So the person behind the counter took back the scoop of Peanut Butter Bubblegum Crème Supreme and the scoop of Marshmallow Banana Butterscotch Blonde Blitz and the scoop of Choco-Cherry Caramel Twist and the scoop of Okey-Dokey Mocha and the scoop of Black Licorice Delight and the scoop of Luscious Lime Sherbet and the scoop of Cardinal Cherry Royale and the scoop of Chocolate Chunky Chip and the scoop of Rainbow Ice and the scoop of Grape Jubilee and the scoop of Strawberry Surprise and the scoop of Magical Mint and the scoop of Blueberry Bliss and the scoop of Rocky Ripple and the scoop of Raspberry Road.

And then the person behind the counter gave me a vanilla ice cream cone.

A Sixteen-Scoop Vanilla Ice Cream Cone!